

Rob Herb
Camp Director
Head Swimming Coach,
Lehigh University

Rob Herb has recently completed his sixth season as the head coach of the men's and women's swimming and diving teams.

Herb is no stranger to Lehigh's Jacobs Pool. He has been a vital piece of the Mountain Hawk's staff for over a decade, initially as a member of the swimming staff with Chris Marshall, but more recently as Lehigh's Aquatic Director. His primary professional commitment has been Director and Head Coach of the very successful Atlantis Aquatics Club Swimming program. Herb has worked with Atlantis since 1994, when he started the club. He is a four-time honoree of the American Swim Coaches Association, capturing their Coach of Excellence honor.

"Rob's reputation as a technical swimming coach and advocate for swimming is national in scope," said Lehigh Dean of Athletics Joe Sterrett. "More importantly, however Rob maintains a set of educational personal values that are extremely well aligned with the university and with our department. Rob's demeanor, organizational skills, creative and strategic thinking abilities, and concern for young people have earned him a strong and positive reputation that is founded upon respect and trust."

For five years beginning in 1998, Herb also served as a member of the U.S. National Swimming Team staff and on their advisory board. He was a head coach of the 2002 U.S. National Select Training Camp, based in Colorado Springs, Colorado, where he worked with many of the top American swimmers and their coaches.

Herb graduated from Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pa., with a bachelor's degree in chemistry. He then earned his master's in education from Lehigh in 1994. He currently resides in Bethlehem with his wife, Ali.

LEHIGH UNIVERSITY SWIM CAMP 2010

The Lehigh University Swimming Camp 2010 will provide swimmers with a five day program designed to improve technique and advance training skills. It will include technique sessions for each of the four competitive strokes oriented towards swimming efficiency. Technique sessions will revolve around drills and explanations governing force application to swimming. Each session will be guided by our experienced staff. Campers will be supervised by the coaches and counselors at all times. The Lehigh University Swim Camp will include an optional early morning aerobic workout and a mandatory afternoon workout which will be geared for cardiovascular conditioning and emphasizing ideas learned in that day's technique session. The daily program will include dryland exercises, flexibility sessions, nutrition, and goal setting seminars. Swimmers will be videotaped swimming two laps of each stroke with written coach's analysis. Analysis will be given with ideas on how to improve. Special sessions will cover the competitive technique for starts and turns of the four strokes.

The last evening session of each session will be the Annual Lehigh Swim Camp Talent Show. On Wednesday, the camp concludes with awards and wrap up.

The Lehigh University Swimming Camp is designed to teach and advance competitive techniques. This camp is for boys and girls aging from 9-17 years old. All participants need to know how to swim all four competitive strokes. We will meet everyone's needs from novice swimmers to the advanced swimmer. We must emphasize that this camp is for swimmers who train and compete on a competitive level.

SPECIAL START and TURN INSTRUCTION

Some of the most neglected areas of competitive swimming are starts and turns. The start and turn are the fastest part of any race and can improve performance significantly. However, due to time, space, equipment or interest, the start and turn are not usually part of every daily practice. At the Lehigh Swim Camp, we will dedicate special attention to starts and turns each day of the camp.
